14 Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has ascended into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess. 15 For we do not have a high priest who is unable to empathize with our weaknesses, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are—yet he did not sin. 16 Let us then approach God's throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need. - Hebrews 4:14-16

Introduction

We are making the turn onto the homestretch of reading the entire New Testament together this year. We began way back in January with Matthew and we will finish Revelation the first week of November. What a ride! What an adventure! I hope you have found it helpful and a good learning experience to read straight through the New Testament. It shares a profound story and points us to eternity at its conclusion.

These last books include a book primarily written to the Jewish people who are struggling with understanding the relationship the Law and the concept of grace shares. The writer is trying to clarify and encourage. Then we have the general epistles written by James, Peter, John and Jude which give the reader instructions about how to live day to day as a follower of Christ. They come from different perspectives and every word has great value. We'll conclude with what might be the most puzzling book in the Bible. However, Revelation gives us truth and promises that every Christian wants to hold tightly to. As I always recommend when reading this book, don't get hung up on the details, but live into the principles and promises which are timeless and give us so much hope.

I shared in the last devotion guide that one of the characteristics of scripture is it contains many verses which easily turn into just the words or ideas we need to pray in certain situations. I invite you, if possible, to find a verse or two every day you read and make it part of your prayer time. This method allows you to recognize the deepest need of your heart and seek a scriptural answer if possible or pray a verse or two seeking peace in your heart. It connects our scripture reading with our daily prayer time, both of which are vitally important to our spiritual journey. Add the verses of prayer to your normal routine of prayer.

I'll write a devotion each day from the reading. Look for it via email or on Facebook. I trust that these last books of the New Testament will prove valuable in your spiritual journey. If you have been reading all year, congratulations early. Just a few more weeks until this particular journey wraps up. Good work!
